Dr. Iqbal H. Sarker [PhD & Postdoc] received his Ph.D. in Computer Science from Swinburne University of Technology, Melbourne, Australia in 2018. Now he is working as a research fellow at Cyber Security Cooperative Research Centre (CRC) in association with Security Research Institute, Edith Cowan University, Australia through academia-industry collaboration including CSIRO's Data61. His professional and research interests include Cybersecurity, AI/XAI-based Modeling, Machine Learning, Data Science and Behavioral Analytics, Digital Twin, Smart Cities, Critical Infrastructure Security and Resilience. He has published 100+ Journal and Conference papers in various reputed venues published by Elsevier, Springer Nature, IEEE, ACM, Oxford University Press, etc. Moreover, is a LEAD/Single author of TWO Springer Books titled "AI-driven Cybersecurity and Threat Intelligence" and "Context-Aware Machine Learning and Mobile Data Analytics", published by Springer Nature, Switzerland. He has also been listed in the world's TOP 2% of most-cited scientists in both categories [Career-long achievement & Single-year], published by Elsevier & Stanford University, USA. In addition to research work, Dr. Sarker is also involved in several research engagement and leadership roles such as Journal editorial, special issue calling, international conference program committee (PC), student supervision, visiting scholar and national/international collaboration. He is a member of ACM, IEEE and Australian Information Security Association (AISA). For details –

Personal Web: https://sarkerdatalab.com/
ORCID: https://orcid.org/0000-0003-1740-5517
Google Scholar: https://scholar.google.com.vn/citations?user=FR9o1hcAAAAJ&hl=en